THE ABAS LAW FOUNDATION SCHOLARSHIP APPLICATION (for 2010 - 2011)

Thank you for your interest in the ABAS Law Foundation Scholarship Program. This material constitutes the entire application package and should provide you with information that you need to know about the scholarship, how to apply, and how to seek additional information.

Background and Purpose

The Asian Bar Association of Sacramento ("ABAS") was founded in 1981. The membership, which now numbers well in excess of one hundred attorney members, is a group of judges, attorneys, law students, and friends who have associated for purposes of professional development, community service, advocacy, and camaraderie. As part of its community service mission, ABAS established the scholarship program in 1991.

In 1997, The ABAS Law Foundation ("Foundation"), a charitable and educational organization, was established under Internal Revenue Code section 501(c)(3). A primary purpose of the Foundation is to award scholarships that recognize law students and recent law school graduates who possess extraordinary skills, desire, and potential to serve and lead the greater Sacramento area Asian-Pacific Islander community.

In 2010, the Foundation raised funds through its Spring wine tasting event and Fall golf tournament. These two events and generous gifts from community leaders fund the Foundation's scholarships.

In the 2009-2010 scholarship cycle, the Foundation awarded a total of $16,000 in scholarships for law students. The Foundation anticipates awarding a similar total amount of scholarship money in this year's scholarship cycle, and the awards typically range from $500 to $4,000 for individual scholarships. The Foundation will formally present the scholarship awards at an ABAS event in Spring 2011.

Eligibility

To be considered for a scholarship, you must be either: (i) currently enrolled and in good standing at a Sacramento area law school (including U.C. Davis); or (ii) currently residing in the Sacramento area and have graduated from law school in Spring/Summer 2010 or Winter 2010-2011.

Criteria

The Foundation awards scholarships on the basis of the following criteria:

- (i) potential for community service and leadership in the Asian-Pacific Islander (“API”) community;
- (ii) academic achievement; and
- (iii) financial need.

Generally, community service and leadership potential are accorded more weight and can be shown in various ways, including past activities serving API or other communities and current involvement with API organizations. However, some scholarships are weighted more heavily on financial need than the other criteria. Financial need can be demonstrated through various types of information, such as the academic year budget, eligibility for financial aid from the law school, or lack of other financial support for school related expenses.

Application Materials

Each applicant must submit all of the following information and materials:

- i. Evidence of scholarship eligibility (a copy of your current law school registration or law school diploma will suffice).
- ii. A personal statement, not to exceed three, double-spaced pages in length. This statement must also include your name, mailing address, email address, and telephone number. You must sign and date your statement. Other than these requirements, your statement may contain any relevant information and may be in any form you desire. Generally, the Foundation’s Scholarship Committee is interested in employment experience and ambitions, community and campus activities, and unique life experiences. If you feel you have overcome any form of hardship (financial, educational, physical, etc.,) you are encouraged to discuss the experience in your statement. Feel free to be creative and innovative in your approach to the personal statement.
- iii. Current résumé.
- iv. Current law school transcripts (either official or unofficial).
- v. Financial information (if you feel that you are in financial need), which includes an itemization of financial resources (including other scholarships received) and expenses for the nine-month academic period, at a minimum.
- vi. Identification of two (2) references, including each reference's name, mailing address, telephone number, and a brief description of your relationship to each reference.

Application Evaluations

The Foundation’s Scholarship Committee will evaluate each scholarship application and select the scholarship recipients in its sole discretion, bound only by the purposes of the scholarship and scholarship criteria. To facilitate the decision making process, the Scholarship Committee may, in its discretion, require a personal interview with any or all scholarship applicants.
